

Wild Wednesday

February 19th, 2025

What a Week of "Seeds and Sharing!"

Nature is Winter Sowing, and you should be, too! →

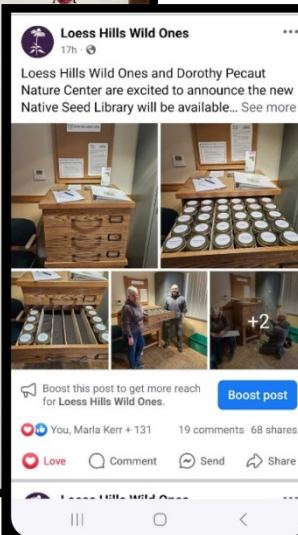

We can help supply your fresh seeds-- with the New Seed Library! Head downstairs at the Dorothy Pecaut Nature Center to check out YOUR seeds and do some Winter Sowing of your own!

← Tyler built a gorgeous Seed Library Cabinet, and Marcie stocked it with seeds supplied by Bill, Dotty, Tom, Cheri, and many others who picked, dried, packaged, and shared their bounty in 2024!

SEED CHECK-OUT INSTRUCTIONS

- Browse through the binder to see what seeds are available.
- Find the seeds you want in the drawers. They are in order as they appear on the index pages.
- Note which seeds you are taking on the clipboard with your name and email so we can check to see how your seeds do.
- There is no need to return any seeds, there are no overdue fines!
- Please take only one packet per species.

https://siouxcityjournal.com/seed-library/image\_97b91e52-ebd9-11ef-934f-f31327c73d9e.html

Marcie did a GREAT JOB promoting the Seed Library, and it received a LOT of positive response! 80+ packets were checked out the VERY FIRST day!!

Click photos for links! →

130+ "likes"/"loves"; 19 positive comments, and 68 shares. This makes me so happy!!!

← Click for a printable Step by Step Winter Sowing of these seeds into gallon jugs!

And watch this comparison video of different types of Winter Sowing containers! →

In today's video let's compare seven types of winter sowing containers:

Speaking of the Dorothy Pecaut Nature Center, while you are there getting your FREE, FRESH Native seeds, check out the REASON for growing these Native plants with their AWESOME Pollinator Traveling Show!
Open 'till the 28th!

Danielle (above) and Lilly (right) showcased their newly created tabling display at the Winter Prairie Seminar in Ames!

They had a great turnout in spite of the weather!

Grow, Danielle and Lilly!

Weekly Wild Wednesday

March 3rd, 2021

What a stunning

The Seed Library is packaging seeds from Carrie this week in glass jars-- with tiny, recycled silicone packets to keep them dry and viable. They will be stored in a deep freezer to keep them longer and stronger! If you use these glass coffee jars, please save them for us! Thank you in advance! →

← Also, some of these seeds were put by old telephone poles left from an underground power relocation at the "Wild Mess In Progress! Grow, little seeds and cover these poles! We wish you well!

Weekly Wild Wednesday

For October 21st, 2020

Weekly Wild Wednesday

March 17th, 2021

What a dramatic weather change! From shirtsleeves to snow boots! Perfect weather for indoor Seed Sorting!

The Seed Library had a wonderful week of seed preservation, with many seeds in their tiny packets going into glass jars with recycled silicone food packs to keep them dry. They are cool and dark, and will soon go into the deep freezer when we get confirmation from Laura at UNI that this is the very best way to keep them viable the longest.

For a brief history of the Seed Library in Progress, click on some of these Archived Wild Wednesdays! The Seed Library went from a Vision Board in October of 2020-- to a Portable Seed Library throughout the years-- to the gorgeous and super elegant permanent home it has now!

THANK YOU to EVERYONE who helped along the way to make the Seed Library Dream a REALTY!!

I can't live without you Valentine....

To:
From:

No, but seriously. I would actually die.

NEBRASKA
- GARDEN FORKS -

← Last week, this was our favorite Valentine!

If you don't 'get it', click on this Chris Helzer story for all the details!

The Yucca and its Moth

For more than 40 million years there ha...

blog.nature.org

Saturday, March 8
at 10AM
Dorothy Pecaut Nature Center

"Pollinator Friendly Plants and Habitat"
with Jamie Beyer

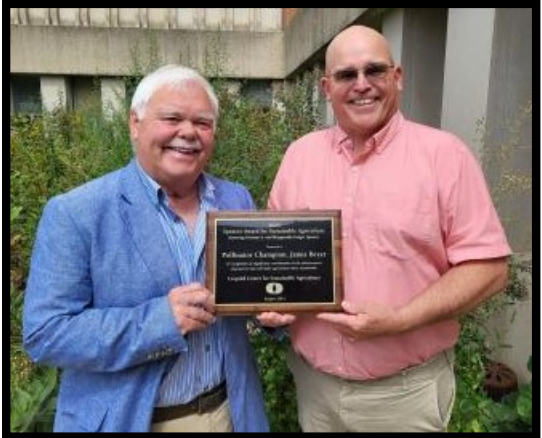

Co-sponsored by:

PLEASE Mark Your Calendar!

Saturday
March 8th at
10AM

Click Jamie's photo for a detailed bio-

And AWARDS!!!

Wishing you a week filled with "NEW Seed Library Winter Sowing!"

