Native Gardens in the Home Landscape: A personal account by Danielle Metzger.

Come and join us for an afternoon of learning how native gardening fits into the home landscape. Our very own Danielle Metzger will be sharing her families personal experience with native plants around their home.

She will present information on why native plants are important, a little information about Monarch butterflies, and how she creates her beautiful native gardens. There will be beautiful pictures and lots of plants to learn about!

Dorothy Pecaut Nature Center, Saturday March 7 at 1:00pm.
